regularly makes home visits for his clients to offer his expert opinion on home decor. Clients may want to browse the Naurelle catalogue online, or they are welcome to make requests for pieces they don't see in the showroom. Whether they are in the market for a bookcase crafted from a particular type of wood or a complementary pair of desk lamps featuring the finest glass, these items can be custom-ordered to match every specification with the supervision of Nahai.

Offices outfitted in exquisite Naurelle furniture are more than just a place to work. They evoke classic Italian style, as seen in the Naurelle collections featured on the company website. Naurelle can furnish any office to match your interior design specifications, whether it is utterly sleek with black and gold, or brighter with mahogany wood. A black and gold-themed office could be furnished with a black lacquer executive desk complete with gold accents, as well as a pair of Spanish tufted leather armchairs alongside a tall, black lacquer bookcase. For those that appreciate a more minimalist look, the office could have a mahogany desk with silver details and a matching bookcase, with glass doors to show off plaques, blown glass vases and books or tomes.

No room is complete without the proper lighting, and a desk lamp with bronze accents as well as a tasteful crystal chandelier hanging from the ceiling completes the look of the modern Naurelle office. Naurelle specializes in lighting as well as furniture, and the store's chandeliers, wall sconces and floor lamps are crafted with the finest materials, including Austrian and
