

Thinfilm selects Sikich as financial advisor for North America and Asia

Written by Australian Business

OSLO, Norway and CHICAGO, Sept. 27, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Thin Film Electronics ASA ("Thinfilm") (OSE: THIN.OL)

Thinfilm announced today that the Company has engaged SIKICH CORPORATE FINANCE LLC as their North American and Asian financial advisor. Thinfilm is expanding its activities in North America, including likely establishment of industrial partnerships, and corporate activities aimed at accelerating development of wireless printed integrated systems. Sikich's transaction experience with companies in technologies related to wireless communications will support Thinfilm's aims.

"The professionals at Sikich have substantial experience in developing industrial partnerships for both private and public companies, and have led numerous global merger and acquisition activities. The members of Sikich's technology practice have worked in technology-based companies and possess a deep understanding of the semiconductor and electronics industries, as well as the rapidly emerging Internet-of-Things market. The combination of industry knowledge and financial and strategic investor relationships makes Sikich highly qualified to assist Thinfilm in executing its growth strategy," stated Davor Sutija, CEO, Thinfilm.

"Thinfilm combines an experienced management team with industry leading technologies and products, and strong go-to-market partnerships. The team at Sikich believes their capabilities mesh well with Thinfilm's needs, and is excited to be working with Thinfilm to expand their investor base and establish industrial partners for Thinfilm in North America and Asia," commented
