

Race to the White House - Secrets and emails

Written by Brendon O'Connor, Associate Professor in American Politics at the United States Studies Centre, University of Sydney

This week on Race to the White House, Brendon O'Connor, Tom Switzer and Anthony Dockrill discuss how the re-emergence of the email scandal has come to hurt Hillary Clinton in the final week of the campaign.

Has Clinton's love of secrecy not only created this problem but also reinforced a perception among many voters that she can't be trusted?

Also on the agenda: what a possible Clinton presidency may look like both domestically and abroad.

Race to the White House podcast is a collaboration between the United States Studies Centre at the University of Sydney, 2ser 107.3 and The Conversation.

Anthony Dockrill is a producer and presenter and the current Program Manager at 2SER 107.3.

2ser 107.3 is a community radio station jointly owned by Macquarie University and the University of Technology, Sydney

The authors do not work for, consult, own shares in or receive funding from any company or organisation that would benefit from this article, and have disclosed no relevant affiliations beyond the academic appointment above.

Authors: Brendon O'Connor, Associate Professor in American Politics at the United States Studies Centre, University of Sydney

Race to the White House - Secrets and emails

Written by Brendon O'Connor, Associate Professor in American Politics at the United States Studies Centre, University of Sydney

Read more <http://theconversation.com/race-to-the-white-house-secrets-and-emails-68137>