

VIDEO: Michelle Grattan on Labor's election focused policies and the government's new GST formula

Written by Michelle Grattan, Professorial Fellow, University of Canberra

Michelle Grattan speaks with University of Canberra Vice-Chancellor Deep Saini about the week in Australian politics. They discuss the Labor party's announcement of a series of roundtables to hear more banking victims where the Royal Commission hasn't visited, and their announcement that a Labor government would subsidise preschool education for three-year-olds. They also talk about the Morrison government's new formula for carving up the GST revenue.

Michelle Grattan does not work for, consult, own shares in or receive funding from any company or organisation that would benefit from this article, and has disclosed no relevant affiliations beyond their academic appointment.

Authors: Michelle Grattan, Professorial Fellow, University of Canberra

Read more <http://theconversation.com/video-michelle-grattan-on-labors-election-focused-policies-and-the-governments-new-gst-formula-104486>