

Coast Science Introduces L-Arginine Supplement

Written by Australian Business

---

SAN DIEGO, CA, September 19, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- This month, Coast Science introduced a new addition to its line of natural supplements. Coast Science L-Arginine contains L-Arginine HCL, a natural amino acid commonly found in dairy products, meat, poultry, fish, and nuts. Studies have found L-Arginine to be useful in treating conditions related to blood flow, including congestive heart failure, high blood pressure, senile dementia, erectile dysfunction (ED), and male infertility . Research suggests L-Arginine also is effective as a treatment for migraines, boosting the immune system, and improving athletic performance. The body converts L-Arginine into nitric acid, improving circulation by making blood vessels open wider, and stimulating the release of insulin, growth hormone, and other natural substances in the body.

"L-Arginine makes perfect sense as an addition to the Coast Science line of high quality nutraceuticals," explains Coast Science founder and CEO Bruce Thomsen. "Its efficacy in helping men with infertility or ED issues makes L-Arginine an excellent complement to our Male Fertility Supplement, MFS/The Male Prenatal . At the same time, since L-Arginine is not formulated just for men, its many benefits are available to support the health of the whole family."

Supplementing with L-Arginine is a must for those who want to improve their circulation, and receive the benefits of increased blood flow. Though L-Arginine can be obtained from food and drink, experts say people who are vegan or on high-carbohydrate diets likely are not getting enough and should strongly consider a supplement. Coast Science L-Arginine are vegetable capsules, meaning they are vegan and vegetarian-friendly.

To learn more about Coast Science L-Arginine, and the entire line of Coast Science wellness and fertility supplements, visit www.coastscience.com . During the month of September, visitors even can receive a discount on L-Arginine.

About Coast Science Coast Science is a leader in healthcare, nutraceuticals, and patient advocacy, specializing in new technologies for fertility specialists, urologists, OBGYNs, alternative health practitioners, and their patients. Coast Science's nutraceuticals are sold in over 40 countries around the world, and its MFS/The Male Prenatal, Total Fertility PreConception Formula, and Total Fertility PCOS are global bestsellers. Driven by research and focused on quality, Coast Science is dedicated to patient advocacy and awareness and helping families lead healthy lives. To learn more about the Company and view its entire line of nutraceuticals, visit www.coastscience.com