

Aria School of Music in Reno, NV Announces Guitar Classes for All Ages

Written by Australian Business

RENO, NV, September 20, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Aria School of Music and Art has begun to offer private guitar classes to the general public. The staff at Aria School of Music and Art have a lot of experience in teaching their specific instruments to people of all ages, from children to adults. Private guitar lessons are offered in two levels: basic or advanced. The basic private guitar lessons are done for 30 minutes once a week, while the advanced private guitar lessons are offered for 45 minutes, or even for an hour, once a week.

The cost of a private basic guitar lesson is $26.00. Each month on the 9th, students are able to pay that fee. The total cost per month for private guitar lessons varies, and ranges from the price of $104.00 to $130.00. The amount depends largely on how many lesson days have been in that month. The staff at Aria School of Music and Art have group guitar lessons, too, but some people do better learning an instrument in a private instruction setting. This is what their staff can provide for you.

Many people dream of being the next guitar playing superstar. Why not take that first step and decide to get private guitar lessons today? There has not been any private lessons offered previously by Aria School of Music and Art, so if you think private guitar lessons would be the best option for you, then now's the time to check them out. There are scholarship applications available on their website that you are able to take advantage of.
