

ATLANTA, GA, October 24, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- CyQuest Business Solutions, Inc. and its President and CEO DeVan C. Brown received Fulton County Georgia's 2013 Minority-owned Small Business Award. This award acknowledges the achievements and success of Fulton County small businesses and their contributions to the county and the local community, and recognizes their innovation, positive response to adversity, and track record of business success. The award was presented by Fulton County Board of Commissioners Chair John Eaves during today's Board of Commissioners meeting and was televised live on station FGTV. Erin Rodgers, City of East Point's Economic Development Coordinator, nominated DeVan and CyQuest. Ms. Rodgers indicated, "DeVan's impact on the community, his employees and his colleagues, coupled with his unique vision and ability to adapt make a compelling case for him to receive this awards. DeVan values hard work and believes in results! He exhibits a willingness to take calculated risks, being results-oriented, while being deliberate and considerate in his decision-making."

DeVan indicated, "We are humbled and honored that Fulton County acknowledged our commitment to the growth of the County and its economic development by awarding us the esteemed Minority-owned Small Business Award for 2013. It's truly a testament of the hard work and efforts of our dedicated employees, leadership team and to everyone that has been supportive of our vision since our inception in 2004. Having our corporate headquarters and residing in Fulton County, I am excited to be a part of the local economy of Georgia's most populated county, especially the uniqueness and continued promise of South Fulton County. We look forward to continuing to have a positive impact not only on the local economy but our overall community especially as Fulton County and Atlanta, its county seat, continues to be the economic engine of the Southeast."
