

ATLANTA, GA, November 07, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Event Rentals Unlimited, one of the leaders in Atlanta party rentals , shares some important tips for planning an autumn wedding. They have everything people need for an indoor or outdoor autumn wedding, including tableware, furniture, equipment, tents, and much more.

Why Autumn Weddings are Special

Autumn weddings are becoming increasingly popular. Planning a fall wedding allows couples to make the most of the colors and traditions of the season. Autumn brides and grooms also have a much better choice of popular venues at reasonable prices because they are not competing with all of the spring and summer wedding parties. Furthermore, the cool, crisp air makes for a far more comfortable wedding. This is particularly true here in the South, where the summer heat, humidity, and sun can wilt even the most beautiful brides (not to mention their guests).

However, there are a few things people should keep in mind when planning an autumn wedding in Atlanta. Event Rentals Unlimited discusses how easily potential problems can be avoided with a little planning.

Chilly Fall Temperatures

Autumn temperatures can be unpredictable in the South. One day it can be in the 80s, and the next day, you may see frost on the plants. Be sure that you are prepared for any temperature--especially if some of your wedding festivities will be outdoors, or last into the evening.

Use your wedding website or invitations to remind guests to bring a jacket or wrap in case it gets chilly. Just don't assume they will heed your advice. Keep some extra inexpensive wraps and blankets around for guests--particularly for women who just had to wear the strapless dress they bought just for the occasion.

Arrange to have some areas where guests can keep warm outside. Event Rentals Unlimited has fire bowls that are decorative and practical. They are a great way to provide warmth, and can be used to heat up s'mores or roast marshmallows. Set up a few fire bowls with chairs or benches around them as cozy gathering spots for your guests to enjoy some hot cocoa, sangria, or buttered rum.

Finding Beautiful In-Season Flowers

While your favorite flowers may be difficult to find or outrageously expensive if you have an autumn wedding, there are still many beautiful, colorful choices for your bouquets, centerpieces, and other decor. Carnations, irises, lilies, dahlias, chrysanthemums, and roses are all around in abundance. Fall also brings lots of colorful foliage that can be used to accent your floral arrangements, and make edible centerpieces if you choose, including crabapples, berries, peppers, pumpkins, and squash.
