

LOS ANGELES, CA, January 21, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Leaders worldwide invest in connection, education and information to be successful and come out on top in a global marketplace that has seen failure rates in excess of 55% percent in its executive leadership ranks over the past several years. Sheri Mackey, noted Executive Coach says, "Leaders today must be smarter, faster and more agile than ever before, yet there is less time and less resource provided to accomplish ever-growing expectations and goals. As a result, we released a new platform, The Global LABB, to target the very challenges that leaders worldwide face every day. We provide valuable solutions that will actually save time, money and energy - while at the same time maximizing resources and accelerating careers."

The Global LABB was created to connect leaders worldwide in ways that have not previously been leveraged for individual success. "For example, Mentoring has historically been done within the four walls of the organization, with a senior person mentoring a junior person - and it often doesn't work, for a variety of reasons. We have created a unique mentoring platform that creates a virtual space for cross-industry, cross-cultural mentoring to take place. We have developed a fully facilitated program called Mentor Connect that guides the entire process for both parties to ensure a positive mentoring experience from anywhere in the world."

"Similarly, unique platforms have been created for executives to connect through virtual Roundtable forums that currently exist only as live meeting groups that cost tens of thousands of dollars a year to belong to, with leaders traveling to different locations to get exposure to local resources." asserts Sheri, "Now, for a very small fraction of the cost, leaders can remain in the office or at home, invest significantly less time, discuss critically important challenges to their specific business with trusted advisors from all over the world... all while gathering unique perspectives from cross-industry and cross-cultural perspectives. This will change everything!"

"In addition to providing unique connection resources, we also effectively filter the internet for the very best sources of leadership information so that we can save leaders everywhere the pain of trying to find the relevant, useful information they need, but can never seem to put their hands on. Useful tools, assessments, articles, recommended readings, as well as the best leadership blogs and global conferences are provided. In addition, we evaluate and recommend the very best Executive Education sources, workshops, webinars, and podcasts - as well as provide proprietary Global LABB webinars delivered by some of the most noted leadership experts in the world," states Steve Mackey, Co-Founder of The Global LABB. "The Global LABB provides leaders worldwide with the opportunity to change the way they connect to other leaders, continue their education and gather information in an ongoing way!."
