

IRVINE, CA, June 03, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Multifamily Ancillary Group, LLC \(MAG\), the leading ancillary service provider for the apartment industry, today announced it will be exhibiting in booth #108 at the National Apartment Association's upcoming 2014 Education Conference & Exposition on Wednesday, June 18 - Saturday, June 21 in Denver, Colorado

.

NAA's 2014 Education Conference & Exposition includes opportunities with an estimated 7,000 multifamily industry professionals, over 40 educational sessions, 350 suppliers and Emmy-winning actor Michael J. Fox, give the Opening Keynote, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Future

.

"This is an important apartment industry event for us, as we build relationships with leading apartment portfolios throughout the nation. Since last year's event, we have generated over $200 million to our clients bottom line and partnered with several new companies," said Annie McClinton, MAG's Vice President. "We expect to grow even more substantially over the year with our newly developed partner programs."

For more information about the company's ancillary services, visit www.magrevenue.com .

For more information about the 2014 NAA Education Conference & Exposition, visit www.educanf.naahq.org

.