

Clark Pettit Joins Leading Business Mentoring Firm Merryck Co as New President

Written by Australian Business

NEW YORK, NY, June 25, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Merryck & Co, a top business leader mentoring firm, today announced that Clark Pettit, most recently CEO of The Association of Business Information and Media Companies (ABM), will be joining the company as president and member of the executive team.

Pettit will contribute to strategic direction and have oversight of the expansion and service quality of Merryck & Co in the Americas. Merryck & Co, a team of 65 former CEOs and senior executives, brings an operator's perspective to executive development. They provide mentoring and private advisory services to senior leaders at some of the most respected companies in the world.

"We're confident Clark's experiences driving transformation and growth at the leading edges of disruption, including the development of new products, business models and partnerships will bring relevant insight to our customer base and strategic value for us as we continue our rapid growth," Merryck & Co CEO David Reimer said. "Because he shares our commitment to executive development and places the same strong emphasis as we do on the customer experience, Clark is well positioned to support Merryck & Co's short and long-term goals."

Prior to joining Merryck & Co, Pettit has held leadership roles in companies such as EMI Music, Accenture and The Dow Chemical Company. An engineer by training, he recently completed a three-year turnaround of ABM, concluding with a successful merger with SIIA.

Because Merryck mentors have first-hand experience with the pressures of holding the corner office, they bring the know-how to help current top executives and their senior teams see, interpret and deliver transformational change.
