

HOUSTON, TX, September 22, 2014 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Qualaco Inc. is a management consulting firm based in Houston, Texas. They offer a road map to companies seeking various International Standards certifications from the International Organization for Standards (ISO). The company has over 50 years of combined expertise and is led by Lori L. Lyerly, a Quality Control Management expert.

The firm offers tools and expertise to help companies and businesses in the Oil & Gas Industry, among others, to achieve the highly sought-after ISO 9001 Certification, as well as many others including ISO 14001 and OHSAS 18001. Qualaco can determine which elements of a business need improvement in order for the entire organization to make progress towards certification. It is often a process that requires the total commitment of management and staff towards a single goal. That may be the most valuable advice Qualaco can offer Manufacturing businesses.

Since 1987 over one million organizations worldwide have sought and obtained ISO 9001 certification and other certifications including ISO 14001 Environmental certification, and OHSAS 18001 certification. These International Standards are employed to establish standard policies and procedures that will improve overall operations and Customer satisfaction.

Having expert advice from a company with considerable experience in the ISO field is vital to ensuring not only that a Company reaches their goal with a minimum of expense and risk, but that they recognize the goal itself and the value of reaching it. This is especially true in the Manufacturing and Oil & Gas Industry.

Another vital role Qualaco fills is to document the processes and requirements a company must meet in order to achieve certification under the ISO 9001 International Standard, or related standards including ISO 14001 and OHSAS 18001. The importance of professionally produced, annotated and indexed documentation cannot be overlooked. If the documentation is developed by an experienced consulting firm like Qualaco, management can be sure it is complete and properly organized to make utilizing it easier and more efficient. The key to excellence in training is well presented instructional materials, and that is the function of good documentation.

Business leaders in manufacturing industries would be well advised to give serious consideration to pursuing the kind of expert advice a company like Qualaco can provide. Now is an excellent time, as the company is expanding internationally and adding additional offices including locations in New Jersey and South Carolina. Qualaco can be reached at 855.919.1623.

Young, Dynamic, Women-Owned Quality Management Consulting Firm Expanding

Written by Australian Business

Qualaco provides a unique approach to organizations by incorporating various methodologies and tools to help companies in achieving ISO Certification which will be the most effective and efficient. Qualaco's staff is highly trained and experienced in the development and certification process for ISO 9001, ISO 14000, AS 9100, ISO 50001, ISO/TS 29001, 6949 and Nuclear Certifications. Qualaco incorporates an immense knowledge of best practices to ensure your Quality Management System is the driving factor for success and cost effectiveness in your business.

Qualaco's principles are centered on eliminating the biggest misconception in achieving ISO Certification. That misconception is, "ISO is no more than added paperwork to make my job more difficult and time consuming. "