

One of the company's flagship products is the continuous casting mold, which is used to solidify molten metal into slabs. Minyoung Industry is the nation's first company and the world's third to manufacture and provide the product.