

David Goliath: When Do Underdog Businesses Benefit from Neighborhood Giants?

Written by Business News

Is being located next to a big-name competitor always bad for your small business? A new study in the Journal of Marketing Research shows that contrary to accepted belief, the presence of a large, nearby competitor can actually boost the sales of smaller brands.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148091&CultureCode=en>