

Improved treatment for cancer patients

Written by Business News

Researchers have shown how a topical steroid cream frequently used to treat common skin conditions, can be used to improve dermatitis in cancer patients. Radiotherapy uses X-rays to destroy cancer cells but this can often lead to a severe skin reaction involving redness, pain and blistering similar to sunburn.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148097&CultureCode=en>