

New research aims to improve care for the youngest and oldest NHS patients

Written by Business News

The British Pharmacological Society has announced that its annual meeting, Pharmacology 2014, will showcase the latest research on the NHS care received by children and the elderly in the UK. New findings in these 'Cinderella' areas (so-called because they are often neglected or over-looked) represent just a small sample of the cutting-edge research being presented next week.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148204&CultureCode=en>