

British Pharmacological Society reveals the secrets of success for cutting edge research

Written by Business News

Society also recognises achievements of Aberdeen, Edinburgh, Liverpool and Oxford. The British Pharmacological Society has announced the secrets of success for pioneering research along with the outcome of its annual 'Putting UK Pharmacology on the Map' vote. The vote selects sites of special scientific interest linked to achievements in pharmacology based on a ballot of MPs, peers and senior members of the scientific community.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148206&CultureCode=en>