

Network will spark new IDEAS in drug development

Written by Business News

---

A new £2.7 million international training network project, led by a team at Lancaster University, will develop a generation of medical statisticians dedicated to achieving early stage drug development success.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148305&CultureCode=en>