

Creating the fastest outdoor wireless Internet connection in the world

Written by Business News

Lancaster University engineers are to head up a European team working on the world's first W-band wireless system, heralding the arrival of cost effective, high speed internet everywhere, every time.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148384&CultureCode=en>