

New cell marking technique to help understand how our brain works

Written by Business News

Scientists from the University of Southampton have developed a new technique to mark individual brain cells to help improve our understanding of how the brain works.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148446&CultureCode=en>