

New practical video guides from the International Menopause Society

Written by Business News

""Half the world's population will experience the menopause. It can be a difficult time for many women and is made worse by a tidal-wave of misleading information on social media. Now women globally can now access reliable information about what the menopause is, how it might affect them and how to choose safe and effective treatment options. All this information is contained in a set of easy-to-understand videos freely available from the International Menopause Society.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148515&CultureCode=en>