

Researchers create Methuselah fly by selecting best cells

Written by Business News

A team of researchers at the University of Bern has managed to considerably prolong the lifespan of flies by activating a gene which destroys unhealthy cells. The results could also open new possibilities in human anti ageing research.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148857&CultureCode=en>