

A voyage from the Earth's crust to its mantle and back again

Written by Business News

---

Uranium isotopes leave a distinct 'fingerprint' in the sources of volcanic rocks, making it possible to gauge their age and origin. Geologists have gained a new understanding of how the Earth's crust is recycled back into its interior based on these uranium isotopes.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148928&CultureCode=en>