

Current nutrition labeling is hard to digest

Written by Business News

Current government-mandated nutrition labeling is ineffective in improving nutrition and curbing the obesity epidemic, but there is a better system available, according to a study by McGill University researchers.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=148958&CultureCode=en>