

Trying to Project an Image of Success? It Could Make You Dwell on Your Failures

Written by Business News

---

Life is full of experiences that challenge how we see ourselves and we often compensate by buying products that reinforce our ideal self-image. A new study in the Journal of Consumer Research shows that this type of retail therapy could backfire and lead us to think more about our failures.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=149007&CultureCode=en>