

Challenging the dominance of culture

Written by Business News

04/02/2015, A prominent literary theorist will focus on society's obsession with 'Culture' during a public lecture at Northumbria University, Newcastle next week. On Wednesday 4 February, Professor Terry Eagleton, will deliver a lecture entitled 'Against Culture' which argues that the concept of 'culture' has become overblown in our time, displacing far more important issues and concerns in the modern world.
