

Technology helps elderly with mild dementia

Written by Business News

Blekinge Institute of Technology, will receive 10 million SEK to develop new technologies that will increase the quality of life for elderly people with mild dementia. The technology, IT support via e-readers, will also facilitate for the relatives.

Read more <http://www.alphagalileo.org/ViewItem.aspx?ItemId=149298&CultureCode=en>