

MaCuMBA Summer School 2015: "Sampling, Isolation Cultivation of Marine Microorganisms"

Written by Business News

The MaCuMBA consortium is pleased to announce that the project will host a summer school on sampling, isolation and cultivation of marine microorganisms in July 2015. During this two-week course, participants will have the opportunity to interact with experts in the field and obtain first-hand experience of isolation and cultivation design along with various other techniques.

Read more