

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Time Warner Cable and Univision Communications Inc., the leading media company serving Hispanic America, today announced a multi-year, multi-platform agreement to deliver even more Univision content to Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks subscribers.

The agreement, which comes well in advance of the parties' existing agreement, will bring a comprehensive selection of Hispanic networks and content to Time Warner Cable customers, including Univision's new networks: Univision Deportes, Univision tNovelas and FOROtv. Time Warner Cable will also be among the first distributors to carry the El Rey Network. Created and programmed by renowned filmmaker Robert Rodriguez and FactoryMade Ventures, El Rey is a new English-language entertainment cable network geared towards young-adult audiences launching at the end of 2013. This multiplatform deal will provide Time Warner Cable's customers access to a robust offering of content for digital platforms and VOD, which includes additional "TV Everywhere" content for TWC TV's out-of-home platforms and authenticated access to Univision's UVideos and Univision Deportes digital properties.

The expanded partnership also includes renewed distribution rights for Univision's flagship broadcast and cable networks – Univision Network, UniMás, Galavisión, De Película, De Película Clásico, Bandamax, Ritmoson, Telehit and Distrito Comedia. In addition, Time Warner Cable and Univision's Television Group have reached a first-of-its-kind local news partnership to better serve Hispanic audiences in Los Angeles, New York and other shared markets.

"We were delighted to be able to work out our early renewal and expand our business relationship with Univision," said Melinda Witmer, Executive Vice President, Chief Video and Content Officer for Time Warner Cable. "Our comprehensive agreement expands the number of ways our Hispanic subscribers can enjoy their favorite entertainment, news, sports and telenovelas. We also look forward to the launch of El Rey; after talking with Robert and his creative team for more than a year, we're convinced that this new network will provide our customers with a unique experience."

"This agreement further demonstrates Time Warner Cable's strong commitment to providing Hispanic audiences with the content they love most," said Tonia O'Connor, President, Content Distribution and Corporate Business Development, Univision Communications Inc. "Hispanics represent a significant growth opportunity for distributors and our goal in this highly competitive environment is to build long-term partnerships, that tap into the power of our brand, deliver top quality programming and leverage our exhaustive range of multi-platform offerings."

"Time Warner Cable's commitment to El Rey emboldens our ability to bring exciting, visceral and cinematic stories to young viewers across the U.S. We are thrilled to be riding with TWC in our mission to deliver entertainment that captures the inclusive spirit of our audiences," said Robert Rodriguez, Chairman, El Rey Network.

Univision Deportes Network and Univision tlnovelas will be available this week on Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks in most Univision markets, and El Rey will be available soon after its launch at the end of 2013. The terms of the agreement were not disclosed.
