

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 16, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Rebekah Woodard of Nashville based Atlas Interiors got tired of cleaning her beautifully upholstered pieces and worried about her treasured furniture when her two young boys got active. After unsuccessfully searching for good looking and good quality slipcovers to protect her pieces and heirlooms, she designed and created Messy Marvin to do just that. "We only get so many years with our kids and a family should be able to live like a family while keeping a clean home. That is Messy Marvin. Our rinseable slipcovers and accessories are stylish and mess free so you can enjoy your life. Like we say Get Messy – Stay Fabulous!" says Woodard from her home overlooking Nashville

.

Messy Marvin combines gracious and simplistic design basics with a functional, sturdy and comfortable fabric which is remarkably wipeable and rinseable from ketchup to chocolate ice cream. You simply wipe it up! Liquid and stain resistant, kid's spills do not soak through so a family can live a fun lifestyle while maintaining a stylish home! Messy Marvin launches online at www.messymarvin.com

. "We are so excited to bring our product to families everywhere," comments Woodard.

The product line includes;

home decor items - sofa, club chair and dining chair slipcovers, drop mat, place mats pet items – medium and large dog beds baby/kid items – bibs, changing pads, drop mats, totes

Esteemed Nashville Designer Launches Messy Marvin

Written by Australian Business

fashion accessories – tote

With a sense of play and humor, Messy Marvin embraces what truly matters. Fun family time because they do the clean-up for you!

Twitter: @messymarvinhome #getmessy

Facebook: messymarvinhome

www.messymarvin.com

SOURCE Messy Marvin