

TORONTO--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Solgenia has today launched GenialCloud.com , the world's first Public Cloud offering that provides Enterprise File Sync and Share (EFSS), Business Analytics (BI) & Unified Communications (UC) applications, among others, all hosted on a single platform and offered through a self serve, purely consumption based, Public Cloud offering.

GenialCloud.com is a proprietary Public Cloud based self service platform powered by Solgenia's innovative Billing and Provision solution, Powua. Powua enables key businesses applications for users on a "Self Parameterizable Consumption Based" Cloud model that can be built around a Credit system, Pre-paid Card or Gift-card. Solgenia has become the world's first enterprise software solution provider to host these key business applications on a single Public Cloud offering that offers consumption based self serve options. Commenting on the launch, Solgenia's Founder and CEO, Ermanno Bonifazi said "Genialcloud has gathered a lot of interest from the industry and our minimum expectation is the platform will revolutionize the Cloud applications billing model and lead the way for a true consumption based solution delivery on the Cloud."

GenialCloud.com also offers 150 Free credits (Value of $75) to all newly registered users, which can be utilized for the "best of breed" enterprise level Enterprise File & Sync (EFSS), Business Intelligence (BI) and Unified Communications (UC) platforms, on a "Freemium-Fully functional" model. Users can customize features, add additional users, and configure storage space required based on individual business needs. This flexibility ensures that businesses only pay for features they use, lowering the overall software costs while leveraging the "best of breed" enterprise class solutions. Solgenia Business applications are also available for use on mobile devices through the iOS & Android app stores.
