

HOPEWELL JUNCTION, N.Y.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--eMagin Corporation (NYSE MKT: EMAN) said today that it has been working with the three customers involved with the stop ship notices relating to the first quarter of 2014. For two customers, shipments have resumed with no loss of expected volume. For the third customer, our testing shows we have met their reliability requirements and display shipments are expected to resume once the customer completes its qualification process.

“We are very pleased with the results of our combined efforts associated with the stop shipment event and we expect all three customers will continue using eMagin’s OLED microdisplays in their current and future products,” said Andrew G. Sculley, president and CEO of eMagin Corporation.
