Written by Australian Business

(PRLEAP.COM) For cracking good fun and egg-cellent value when it comes to next year's Easter getaway, look no further than a break with Keycamp – with seven nights in Portugal starting from just £366 for the whole family.

Stay at the outdoor holiday specialist's Camping Quarteira parc at the heart of the Algarve to make the most of the area's stunning coastline, not to mention temperatures reaching into the high teens and nine hours of sunshine a day.

Just a short stroll away from central Quarteira with its bars, bistros and sandy beach, the parc offers a great retreat with a sparkling pool and lovely grounds to enjoy.

Out and about, the region's capital, Faro is just 23km away – offering great shopping as well as an insight into the area's history and culture. Tavira – one of the oldest and most picturesque towns in the Algarve – is also within day-trip distance and well worth a visit.

Meanwhile, there's full-on-fun for all the family to be had at the nearby Zoomarine theme park, Aquashow waterpark and Krazy World zoo.

A seven night break from 8 April 2014, staying in a two bedroom Esprit mobile home (sleeping up to two adults and four children) with decking, at Camping Quarteira parc will cost from just £366 per party, accommodation only and including an Easter discount.

Ferry crossings and fly-drive packages are available at a supplement.
