

NEW YORK, Oct. 10, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- World Travel Photographer of the Year 2012, Craig Easton will become Photographer in Residence at select InterContinental® Hotels & Resorts across Europe this Fall. The internationally acclaimed photographer will be offering guests who book a Weekend Escapes package at selected InterContinental Hotels & Resorts an exclusive photographic experience.

Craig Easton will provide a photography master class and photo shoot, capturing guests in unique locations recommended by the hotels' world class concierges. The experience will be offered to guests* at InterContinental® London Park Lane, InterContinental® London Westminster, InterContinental® Paris Le Grand and InterContinental® Dusseldorf who have booked the Weekend Escapes package from October to December 2013

**

Craig Easton, renowned for his dramatic landscape work and his intimate portraits, is the perfect partner to help guests capture special moments on their weekend getaways in Europe.

Tom Rowntree, Vice President Brand Management Upscale & Luxury Brands, Europe at IHG (InterContinental Hotels Group) adds, "We're always looking for new ways to give our guests unique experiences that make their stay with us more memorable. Our world-class concierges will also provide unique insider tips on the city's hidden gems and photography spots to ensure guests find the most unique and beautiful backdrop to their photos."

Written by Australian Business

The service will be available on a first come, first served basis and needs to be pre-booked by emailing WeekendEscapesExperience@ihg.com , available on the following dates:

- InterContinental - London Westminster – Saturday, October 12, 2013
- InterContinental London Park Lane – Sunday, October 13, 2013
- InterContinental Paris le Grand – Saturday and Sunday, November 2-3, 2013
- InterContinental Düsseldorf – Saturday, November 30 and Sunday, December 1, 2013

SOURCE InterContinental Hotels & Resorts

RELATED LINKS <http://www.ihg.com>