

Squaremouth Surprises Travelers

Written by Australian Business

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 8, 2014 Two traveling parties started the new year with a surprise from Squaremouth, America's fastest growing travel insurance comparison site. The company sent $1000 to both the last customer of 2013 and the first customer of 2014. Travelers from Oregon and California were the recipients.

Squaremouth is no stranger to surprising its customers with incredible customer service. The company also rewards customers who provide helpful feedback. It's all part of Squaremouth's ongoing commitment to offering exceptional customer service. "Aside from our comparison engine, customer service is how we set ourselves apart," said Squaremouth co-founder and CEO, Chris Harvey, "It was nice to surprise these two travelers, however, we are very grateful to all of our customers."

About Squaremouth Squaremouth is an online company that compares travel insurance products from every major insurance provider in the United States. Using the comparison engine and over 13,000 customer reviews, travelers are able to research, quote, compare and purchase travel insurance. More information is available at www.squaremouth.com
