John North, BBB president and CEO, says "BBB Accreditation is an honor. It's voluntary and Accredited Businesses must meet and maintain your BBB's Standards of Trust, a comprehensive set of policies, procedures and best practices representing trustworthiness in the marketplace. The standards call for building trust, embodying integrity, advertising honestly and telling the truth, being transparent, honoring promises, being responsive and safeguarding privacy."

He continues, "Businesses that meet your BBB's high standards are invited to apply for Accreditation. Applicants undergo a review process and ultimate approval by your BBB's Board of Directors. According to Princeton Research, seven in ten consumers say they are more likely to buy from a company designated as a BBB Accredited Business."

"We are proud to have met your BBB's high standards and we're excited to be part of an organization that exists so consumers and businesses alike have an unbiased source to guide them on matters of trust," said Fred Stutts, CEO Orlando Ticket Connection "We value building trust with our customers and our Accreditation gives our customers confidence in our commitment to maintaining high ethical standards of conduct."
