

HAMBURG, Germany, September 11, 2013 /PRNewswire/ --

POGED.com is an international portal with Free2Play games and it currently offers gamers an opportunity to get their dream job. The company is looking for game testers, aged 18-30, from seven countries (Poland, France, Germany, Spain, Italy, the United Kingdom and the United States), to review new Free2Play games on POGED.com in a written, graphic or video form. The highlight: one candidate will be offered a six-month-long paid internship at the POGED headquarters in Hamburg, Germany

"With POGED.com we aim to create a comprehensive platform for Free2Play games for all devices," says the founder and CEO Tim Ehling. "Currently, we are looking for players who are passionate about games and who are interested in reviewing their gaming experiences."

Requirements:

- Time and enthusiasm for online gaming - willingness to engage intensively in gaming
- Know-How - gaming knowledge and experience
- Good language command - ability to write grammatically and stylistically correct texts in your native language and a good command of English

The winner will get a paid six-month long internship in a prime downtown location in Hamburg. The other candidates do not go away empty-handed: they may contribute as game testers for

Dream Job for Gamers: Free2Play Portal POGED.com is Looking for Game Testers in Seven Countries

Written by Australian Business

POGED.com and will get paid with POGED dollars. This currency can be redeemed for premium items, e.g. downloadable content or Amazon vouchers.

Candidates can apply until 15.11.2013 at us.poged.com/gametester

POGED.com offers over 300 Free2Play games for all platforms including PCs, smart phones and tablets, and operates with more than 50 international developers.

About POGED.com:

POGED.com is the leading platform for Free2Play games and is currently available in six European countries and in the USA. Our portfolio contains over 300 free online and mobile games from more than 50 international developers.

About POGED GmbH:

Founded in Hamburg in 2011 by Tim Ehling, formerly as Project Vrtcl GmbH, POGED GmbH owns and manages Free2Play game platforms, offers in-hand solutions for media partners, such as Focus Online and Stern Online and is a recognized sales partner for major game developers.

Contact:

Tim Ehling CEO te@poged.com Eric Hegmann PR & Business Development T:
+49-40-609-400-472 presse@poged.com

SOURCE POGED GmbH