from Health Springs. This powerful colon oxygen – ozone cleanser comes in convenient take-anywhere veggie capsules perfectly formulated to be absolutely the best home supplement for colon and body cleansing with advanced cell detoxification properties.

OxyFlush pairs perfectly with other oxygen supplements from Health Springs. Oxygen supplement like OxyLift or systemic enzyme product such as Vitalzym help the cells eliminate waste while OxyFlush will help remove that waste out of the body entirely. The magnesium-based oxides and ozonides in this product release oxygen and ozone throughout the digestive system to flush away accumulated toxins and mucous plugging up the elimination system.

The cleansing benefits of active oxygen are far superior to other chemical or herbal colon cleansing systems which can be irritating and cause more harm than good. OxyFlush draws on magnesium-based oxides to help move oxygen throughout the digestive system and naturally and safely get rid of waste and toxins. Cheaper alternatives that do not utilize oxygen for cleaning purposes are not a viable alternative for those looking to improve their overall health.

Those who are serious about their own health and the health of their families will find supplements from Health Springs like OxyFlush to be among the best available. The body is designed to heal itself, but occasionally it needs a little assistance and Health Springs products are the perfect addition to a healthy lifestyle. Complimentary shipping is available on many of the Health Springs products.

About Health Springs: In 1979 when Heath Springs founder's health began to deteriorate, he began to do research and look for an alternative to traditional, potentially dangerous prescription medication. The products now available through Health Springs are some of the discoveries that Health Springs made over the years. These products enhance the immune system, increase oxygen to the body, and promote detoxification and are very useful in improving our health. We are amazed at what the body will do if it is given the right environment.
