

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- August and September are typically the months with the highest birth rates; that means that more women than ever are currently afflicted with painful and unsightly varicose veins and are able to do something about it. Happily, Renaissance Laser & Vein Institute is ready with the latest laser dermatology treatments that can often end this annoying and embarrassing scourge once and for all. After all, newer moms deserve to be happy, pain free, and to look as good as they feel about their new bundles of joy, and it's a goal that's now easily accomplished through the miracle of laser vein removal. Los Angeles moms are also among the most medically savvy of women and they won't accept any less than the very best, which is why Renaissance Laser & Vein Institute is extra busy during the late summer and early fall months.

While varicose veins sometimes disappear after a pregnancy on their own, that's not always the case. Also, if another pregnancy is on the horizon, those veins usually return and often bring new friends along for the party, so the problem can worsen with subsequent pregnancies. Fortunately, Renaissance Laser & Vein Institute is the laser clinic Encino, Thousand Oaks, and Greater Los Angeles moms turn to for relief from one of the nastier annoyances of bringing a new life into the world. Indeed, when varicose veins become swollen, treatment can become a more urgent matter.

Once a pregnancy is over and a woman has had a chance recuperate from childbirth, there's often little reason to wait before pursuing treatment for varicose veins. New mothers no longer need to deal with pain or continue to feel embarrassed while wearing skirts, shorts, or swimwear in our wonderfully warm Southern California climate. The outstanding laser services of Renaissance Laser & Vein Institute can be a real lifesaver.

This widely acclaimed medical group employs a technologically advanced alternative to more invasive and painful vein stripping surgeries. Going under the acronym EVLT (endovenous laser treatment), the Renaissance treatment employs a tiny catheter that eliminates offending veins without the need for a traditional incision. The procedure usually takes less than an hour to complete and boasts an extremely high 98 percent success rate. In most cases, painful symptoms end the day of the procedure and the veins themselves usually begin to disappear in a matter of a month or two.
