

NEW HOPE, Pa., Sept. 17, 2013 /PRNewswire-iReach/ -- Samuel Wood, M.D., Ph.D., the Medical Director of VIAS Partners, LLC, will be presenting three invited lectures at the Congress on Aesthetic Vaginal Surgery (CAVS) to be held September 19 – 20 at The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas

Las Vegas, NV.

These presentations will update the members of the National Society of Cosmetic Physicians (NSOCP) on the latest developments in the field of sexual medicine, especially as it relates to treatments involving regenerative medicine technologies.

Dr. Wood's lecture on "Anatomy Review and Sexual Function" will summarize the many advances that have been made in understanding the anatomy, physiology and psychology underlying normal and abnormal female sexual function, while his lecture describing "Herbs, Homeopathics, and Sex" will critically examine the rapidly expanding field of alternative and complementary medical approaches to address female sexual dysfunction.

Dr. Wood, the co-inventor and world's leading expert on the "Orgasm Shot" ("O-Shot"), has been featured in numerous television, radio and print stories involving this groundbreaking procedure, including a segment on "The Doctors." The O-Shot involves the placement of autologous platelet-rich plasma (PRP) into the two areas most critical in female sexual function: the clitoris and the upper vagina. In his lecture "Innovations In AVS: The O-Shot," Dr. Wood will provide detailed information on the optimal use of this technique as well as the latest research on its effectiveness in various patient population.
