Tucson, AZ – LS Coding & Education LLC, one of the leading education facilities for medical coding certification, now offers all of their noted courses via a distance learning program. The AAPC e-learning program assists individuals interested in becoming a Certified Professional Coder (CPC). All of the classes are available online throughout the year so students do not have to wait for the start of a semester to begin their CPC certification education.

Distance learning courses from LS Coding & Education allow students to study the necessary material and receive their medical coding certification from the comfort of their homes. There are 100 class sessions of approximately one to two hours in length. When one session is completed the student is directed to proceed to the next session or take a chapter test. All handouts are available on the website for students to print and review at their leisure.

LS Coding & Education also offers a unique opportunity for students to actually participate in the classroom course remotely. Via their computer, students will be able to watch an actual classroom instruction session with 25 students attending. This is the next best thing to walking in and sitting down in the classroom.

Test-taking is also simple and convenient. Tests are sent via e-mail as an interactive PDF. The students fill in the correct answer or choose the correct multiple choice answer. Upon completion, the tests are submitted digitally to the instructors for grading and are returned to the student within 3 to 5 business days. Following the completion of this distance learning program, students will be well prepared to receive their medical coding certification.
