ChangeMed's new approach allows the company to be an even larger force of good for their clients. Hollingsworth has always put his trust in Miller and Hoffman and their ability to develop his company. Barry Hoffman has years of industry experience and a keen sense of understanding the "big picture." He was a perfect fit as chief executive officer.

Hollingsworth was also equally impressed with Steve Miller's high customer service standards and his capacity to foster productive business relationships, making him the best candidate for executive vice president. Hollingsworth explains "I'm excited to have Barry Hoffman and Steve Miller join ChangeMed because of their passion for excellence and top notch experience. Their knowledge of utilizing a company's potential for continued growth into new markets was exactly what ChangeMed needed."

The addition of Hoffman and Miller brings intangible components such as knowledge and experience, as well as tangible elements like the launch of a new brand and website. Although facing challenges with diverse technological solutions and time constraints regarding federal regulations, Hoffman remains hopeful for the future of ChangeMed. He states, "I saw a tremendous match in our philosophical approach, in terms of my vision for the future and Matthew's drive. This is an invaluable opportunity for us to join our talents together."

Matthew Hollingsworth's own passion for aiding independent medical practices launched his interest in the healthcare industry. With over 15 years of experience providing IT services and electronic practice management, his side business quickly evolved into a self-sustaining entity. ChangeMed Incorporated was officially founded in 2010 with the primary purpose of "helping independent physicians stay independent" states Hollingsworth. He continues to focus on being "go-to" resource for independent practices that face competition in a consolidating, heavily regulated industry.
