

Philadelphia Plastic Surgeon Launches Website for Gynecomastia Patients

Written by Australian Business

---

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania      November 19, 2013      Health News      ( PRLEAP.CO

M) Board certified plastic surgeon Dr. Adrian Lo is pleased to announce the launch of his latest website, located at

<http://www.mygynecomastiasurgeon.com>

. The website is entirely dedicated to educating patients on gynecomastia and the treatments available, such as male breast reduction surgery. Dr. Lo hopes that the website will provide valuable information to website visitors, and encourage patients from throughout Philadelphia, Delaware and South New Jersey to visit his state-of-the-art practice.

Dr. Lo's new website features a wealth of information on the causes, symptoms and available treatments for gynecomastia. Many men falsely believe that gynecomastia can be cured with diet and exercise changes or even with "miracle" pills. By building this website, Dr. Lo hopes to debunk these myths, and provide potential patients with the information they need to make informed decisions about treatment.

In addition to offering procedure information, the site details Dr. Lo's education, training and professional experience in plastic surgery. Lastly, prospective patients can view before and after photos and get valuable information on male breast reduction surgery costs.

More about Dr. Adrian Lo

Dr. Adrian Lo is a board certified plastic surgeon in Philadelphia who is widely regarded for his skill as a male breast reduction surgeon. He has been named a "Top Doc" by Philadelphia Magazine and has published more than 50 articles in professional publications. Throughout his career, Dr. Lo has helped many adult and teen gynecomastia patients improve their appearance and regain their self-confidence. To learn more about the gynecomastia treatment options available at his practice, or to schedule a free consultation, contact him today at 215-829-6900.

301 S. 8th St. #3H Philadelphia, PA