( PRLEAP.COM ) June 5, 2014 - Berkeley Heights, NJ – One of the pain management clinics in NJ, Peak Medical, is now offering state-of-the-art treatments for Neuropathy sufferers. The center aims to alleviate your symptoms through various therapies including MicroVas, Acupuncture, Manuel Therapy and Deep Tissue Laser Therapy along with many other pain relieving techniques.

There are a number of ailments that MicroVas Therapy can help with. Most of these ailments are considered vascular deficiency conditions. It means certain areas of your body do not have sufficient circulation and therefore lack oxygen and other vital nutrients to function normally. The conditions that benefit most include:

Carpal Tunnel Syndrome Neuropathy Plantar Fasciitis Peripheral Vascular Disease Peak Medical utilizes holistic treatments at their Berkeley Heights pain center. After an initial consultation, if you are a candidate for MicroVas, the doctor will place emitter pads on the site of the neuropathy. These pads emit a low electrical, painless, pulse through your affected limb to help the muscles contract. The session generally takes 45 minutes, with your specific case determining the number of visits necessary.

Treatment works by allowing the muscles to relax, increasing circulation Along with MicroVas Therapy, Peak Medical is a revolutionary NJ Chiropractic, Acupuncture and Physical Therapy clinic. This allows the office to treat a number of pain symptoms ranging from shoulder pain to knee pain to lower back pain. Though not every patient is the ideal candidate for MicroVas, their other forms of pain management may help resolve issues.
