

AccelSPINE Plans Launch of Innovative Spine Surgery System in December

Written by Australian Business

Nationally recognized medical device company AccelSPINE will present an innovative system for minimally invasive lumbar spine surgery during the 2014 annual North American Spine Society (NASS) meeting and exhibition Nov. 12-15, 2014. During the exhibition, NASS attendees will be able to ask questions about the patent-pending system, including newly designed instrumentation, which is expected to launch in December.