

Online physician ratings not associated with quality

Written by Australia Today

Study finds no correlation between online patient ratings and clinical quality.