

4.1 Dwt Natural Alaskan Gold Nugget

(PRLEAP.COM) Sitka, AK – Alaska Jewelry, the popular online source for high quality jewelry

, is now selling rare, collector gold nuggets. The nuggets are sourced exclusively from Alaska and represent some of the purest and most rugged natural gold nugget options on the planet today. This comes as good news to gold enthusiasts around the world seeking the highest quality in collector grade gold nuggets for sale.

Alaskan gold nuggets are some of the world's finest gold fragments in existence. The search for gold in Alaska has continued nonstop since the United States purchased the territory from Russia in the late 1860's. Today, gold mining in Alaska represents the vast majority of big and small placer gold mining operations in the United States. Alaska gold has become particularly popular in recent years, even inspiring hit television shows based on the adventures of real-life gold prospectors vying for a piece of the action.

Nonetheless, Alaskan gold in quality natural nugget form is still quite rare. As such, collectors and investors around the world have increasingly sought after quality real Alaskan gold nuggets for their scarcity, rugged beauty and long-term value.

As longtime Alaskan jewelry experts, Alaska Jewelry has emerged as a leading online source for real Alaskan gold nugget jewelry, and now they are excited for the inclusion of natural gold nuggets into their collection. Their high quality, collector grade gold nuggets are set to be some of the finest on the market, already attracting enthusiasts from around the world.

Alaska Jewelry recommends interested parties visit their website today to peruse their new collection of gold nuggets, from 4.4 dwt to 13.1 dwt in mass and more, and to search through their extensive collection of gold nugget jewelry, men's wedding bands, Simon G Jewelry, Alexandrite rings and a whole host of jewelry choices.

Alaska Jewelry Now Selling Rare Collector Gold Nuggets

Written by Australian Business

About Alaska Jewelry:Chris and Tamara Fondell have operated Goldsmith Gallery in Sitka, Alaska since October of 1990. Originating in Iowa, they moved to Alaska to manage the jewelry store they now own. As the only locally owned jewelry store in their town, they have expanded onto the World Wide Web to bring their "Home-town Jeweler" experience to the world. They offer high quality jewelry, including men's wedding bands, unique engagement rings, fashion jewelry, Tungsten Rings, diamond rings and more. They often offer excellent prices and special deals. For more information, visit <http://www.alaskajewelry.com/> or follow them on Facebook, Twitter, or Pinterest.