

Kriser's Offers Natural Pet Grooming Tips for a Healthy Pet

Written by Australian Business

(PRLEAP.COM) Valencia, CA – Kriser's organic pet food has become a staple for many pet owners who have seen the difference that quality food makes in the appearance and energy level of their pets. While providing natural pet food for your pet can improve the way it feels and increase longevity, grooming is also an essential part of any pet's regular care. While different animals and breeds have different and specific grooming needs, brushing and combing regularly will help prevent their fur from matting, and get rid of shedding hair and dirt. In addition to giving the coat a healthier, shinier appearance, the increased blood flow will also make the skin beneath healthier.

Kriser's Pet Stores offers dog grooming in their Los Angeles, Chicago, Denver and Houston pet stores where they offer top names in pet grooming supplies and the top brands of all-natural pet food. In addition to providing dogs with their breed-specific grooming needs, Kriser's also uses a gentle touch approach and natural products for all of their pet grooming services. Typical shampoos and other products can contain harsh ingredients that irritate your pet's skin and may even lead to allergic reactions. Kriser's understands how important it is to give your pet the best possible treatment with products that you can feel good about using on them. They take the stress out of grooming your pet so that you can keep it as healthy and happy as possible. The grooming experience should always be as enjoyable as possible for both you and your pet.

Every pet is unique and requires the pet grooming services that are right for its breed, disposition and tolerance level. For dogs that are easily excitable, keeping grooming sessions short will keep your dog's nerves under control and give him a chance to adjust to regular grooming sessions. For those areas that will need to be trimmed, but which are especially sensitive, start out by gently petting there so that they become desensitized to touch. If you have a pet that involves less intensive grooming, which you will do at home, always brush before bathing to remove loose hair and make it easier for the shampoo to reach the skin. Also, use the right grooming tools for the job. There are many types of brushes and combs that are made especially for treating hair in specific areas.

To learn more about Kriser's pet food stores in Chicago, California and other locations, visit them online at <http://www.krisers.com>. They also provide a great deal of useful information on their company blog. For more tips on how to groom your pet, read the grooming brochure at <http://www.petpeoplestores.com/brochures/Grooming4x9.pdf>. Visit their site for the contact number for your nearest Kriser's Pet Food Store.

Kriser's Offers Natural Pet Grooming Tips for a Healthy Pet

Written by Australian Business

About Kriser's
Kriser's Pet Stores began with their first store in 2006, growing today to 22 locations in Chicagoland, Southern California, and Denver. They are devoted to providing pet owners with the natural pet foods, treats, toys and grooming products that they have learned make a big difference in the lifespan and quality of life for cats and dogs.