ATLANTA, GA, September 12, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Earlier this year on the daytime TV show The Talk, when Broadway star Kristin Chenoweth extolled the virtues of hair extensions, the other ladies decided to come clean about their own hair augmentation, and began removing their extensions right there on the air, to the delighted screams of the audience. Sheryl Underwood even pulled off her wig.

According to the Atlanta-based online retailer Sunny's Hair & Wigs, which sells only the best human hair extensions, these are not the only celebs to talk openly about their extensions.

Mimi Faust and K. Michelle

Sunny's Hair & Wigs has provided virgin Indian hair extensions for hip hop divas Mimi Faust and K. Michelle from the TV show Love & Hip Hop Atlanta. The extensions let them change up the style, color and length of their hair whenever they want.

Eva Longoria

Eva Longoria, a celebrity known for her fashion sense, beauty and political activism, is also open about her love of hair extensions as a way to add subtle changes to her look. Her extensions are never overly long. They are similar to Sunny's 14-inch Body Wave extensions.

Hayden Panettiere

Hayden Panettiere, one of the stars of the TV show Nashville, has used extensions to go long when her short hair was growing out. She told a reporter that her long hair made her feel better when she was having a bad day.

Dafina Smith, CEO of Sunny's Hair & Wigs, says, "We offer tips to our customers who want to get the look of their favorite celebrity. However, we remind them that they need to consider what will look best on them, whether it's a subtle improvement on their own hair, or a big change in length, style or color."
