

EVERGREEN, CO, September 16, 2013 /24-7PressRelease/ -- FrontDoorSoftware's Deluxe University Campus Wide Program has reached the milestone number of offering laptop theft prevention software to more than 500,000 students.

"We are so proud to have reached this landmark number of students who now have access to our software through their campus programs," said Carrie Hafeman, president of FrontDoorSoftware. "Our university clients have been very proactive at getting the word out to their students that this service is available, and the students, as well as their parents, are so grateful that this product helps keep the campuses safer from laptop theft."

FrontDoorSoftware has gained notoriety among universities for providing this one-of-a-kind, patent-pending service that makes it easy to offer protection to the entire campus at once. The software is a simple program that, once installed on a computer, provides the owner with various means of preventing theft and helps recover the device should it go missing. When a university signs up for the program, it is provided with its own FrontDoorSoftware URL to share with students and staff members. This URL provides each individual with the instructions for uploading the software to their computer and enlisting them in the campus-wide program with a free 4-year theft prevention and recovery license.

"Parents and students have been very pleased to see universities take such a proactive approach about protecting student laptops on campus," said Hafeman. "With one email to the student body encouraging students to download the software, a university could help protect millions of dollars worth of laptops from theft. It's that simple."

For a limited time, all participating universities are also offered an added bonus of one free year of Hotspot Shield's Elite protection package. Hotspot Shield is a VPN-blocking program that allows members to surf the web anonymously and helps protect against hackers from stealing personal identification. This special promotion with Hotspot Shield expires on October 15, 2013 and is available to all college students by visiting <http://college.hotspotshield.com> .

Students, faculty and staff who wish to find out if their college has this program available, can visit <http://www.frontdoorsoftware.com/universitycustomers> .
